

TIMELINE OF EVENT (OVERTHROW) -Answers

Directions:

1. Fill in the missing information below.
2. Then, cut out each event.
3. Finally, put the events in order.

In 1891, Kalakaua had passed away and his sister, _____ became the next monarch to rule Hawaii.

In 1893, the Committee of Safety, led by _____ requested the assistance of _____. With his support, he landed ____ American troops to protect the Americans in Hawaii.

On January 17, 1893, _____ surrendered to the _____ (temporary) Government. _____, a member of the Committee of Safety would now be the temporary head of the government.

The _____ Constitution of 1887 was created by the Hawaiian League. The leader of the league was _____. The league forced _____ to sign the document because it had the support of the _____. The monarch lost power. For example, the monarch needed to get the approval of the legislature to dismiss members of the _____ or to do anything else and needed the approval of the legislature to organize the _____. The constitution made it harder for Hawaiians to vote since they needed to pay _____ and needed to own _____.

In 1840, _____ created Hawaii's first _____. It was important because the monarch's power _____. Power was now shared between chiefs, the maka'ainana, and foreigners.

In 1893, Lili'uokalani attempted to write another _____ to bring power back to the monarchy. However, her _____ didn't support her. This led the plantation owners to want _____ to the United States. The group was afraid of losing their land. Also, business wasn't great because of the agreement between the United States and other countries known as the _____ of 1890. The _____ Treaty no longer mattered since no _____ were placed on sugar coming into the United States.

In 1864, _____ restored power back to the monarchy. He wrote another constitution which abolished the _____ and limited the power of the privy council, which was a group of 35 members.

In 1887, _____ tried to help Kalakaua restore his power but failed. He later tried to help his sister but also failed.